VOY YOUTH
DROWS ON HIS
19TH BIRTHDAY

Pete Wolinski Loses Life
At Seba Beach On Sunday

Pete Wolinski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Wolinski of Laval, Alta., was drowned at Seba Beach, on Lake Wakamow, Sunday evening, the day he was celebrating his 19th birthday.

Unable to swim, the youth jumped off the diving board at the end of the pier into the water above his head. He was pulled from the water just seven minutes after he jumped in, but two doctors spent more than an hour trying to resuscitate him but they were unsuccessful.

Wolinski was working at Wildwood, hauling lumber in a truck owned by Louis Bricker, a Laval, by whom he was employed.

MEANT TO RETURN

He had nearly finished his work there and would have been returning within a few days to Laval. According to reports from Seba, the boy was standing on his swimmer, apparently not knowing that the water off the end was above his head, and he was pulled from the water about seven minutes after he jumped in.

WORK FRUITLESS
Dr. L. Miller, of Edmonton, was called to Seba immediately and gave artificial respiration. He was joined in a few minutes by Dr. J. Verne, also of Edmonton, and the two physicians worked for more than an hour before finding that resuscitation was impossible.

Les Larson, operator of the Seba Beach pavilion, died in and tried to rescue Wolinski, but the drowning boy caught him and pulled him under. He was only able to free himself after a struggle and could not save Wolinski.

Others pulled Wolinski from the water, including Howard & McBride, undertakers. The father several months ago lost a son, a game between two teams in the National Hockey League. After being informed that the team had played to a 4-1 tie, he asked, "Who won the game?"

Every winter the sports department is plagued by absent-minded hockey fans who, not being able to wait until the paper comes out the next day to find the result of hockey game, phone up for the scores at night. Last winter a hockey fan, who was called "the blind man" and asked who won a game between two teams in the National Hockey League. After being informed that the team had played to a 4-1 tie, he asked, "Who won the game?"

EXPECTED HERE
LATE IN MONTH

Hon. W. D. Herridge, leader of the New Democratic party, to which the Social Credit members of parliament have given their endorsement, is expected to visit this province during the week of July 24, according to Premier William.

The Premier on Monday said that his information from Mr. Herridge is that he is expected to come here and will address a series of meetings.

It is expected that one meeting at least will be held in this city. He is expected to visit this province during the week of July 24, according to Premier William.

He repeated that so far the arrangements for Mr. Herridge's visit are satisfactory and that information is expected in the immediate future.

TORIES TO STUDY
CITIZENS' SLATE
PLAN THURSDAY

Central executive of the Conservative party in Edmonton will meet Thursday, July 13, at the party headquarters, Agency building, to discuss the formation of a Citizens' slate of candidates for the provincial elections in Edmonton.

It is anticipated that the committee at that time will nominate three candidates. A preliminary recommendation is accepted by the central committee, which was made for the holding of an immediate nominating convention.

Three More Whoppers

The Inquiring Reporter

It being fishing season, The Bulletin's Inquiring Reporter decided to check the regular order of things and instead of asking Edmonton citizens their opinion on European crops or other matters of import, just list a few of the queer questions that HE has been asked by citizens. Here are a few of them:

A gentleman with a deep, masculine voice called The Bulletin's editorial desk recently and asked a woman would please tell him where he might be able to dispose of a large collection of bullet-proof vests.

Every winter the sports department is plagued by absent-minded hockey fans who, not being able to wait until the paper comes out the next day to find the result of hockey game, phone up for the scores at night. Last winter a hockey fan, who was called "the blind man" and asked who won a game between two teams in the National Hockey League. After being informed that the team had played to a 4-1 tie, he asked, "Who won the game?"

And you can imagine the horror of a fair member of The Bulletin's sports department who, recently when a man phoned to ask if it was proper to whistle while working and walking down the street.

And here's another stunner: Some time ago a pioneer mailman came to the city jail where he was incarcerated, incidentally, to see the warden. He was released and a citizen phoned in and asked whether the warden had been caught and then threw this paper "through the back door." What did he want to escape for?

Citizens have a right to expect a variety of information from the Bulletin. The Bulletin is limited to all things. Two weeks from their Majesties visited Edmonton, June 2, someone called The Bulletin and asked: "What's the weather going to be like June 2?"

And so it goes—ad infinitum and reduce ad absurdum. But there's a laugh in it all the same.

WEIRD CAUSE
RADIO STATIC
IS DISCOVERED

What with static, outside interference and other plausible radio static causes, the cause of the static has been traced to a resident in a city-owned downtown block fan into the police cause of interference recently.

He was called to determine the reason the set purchased was not giving the same sound performance as the other set. The set was no doubt about the interference. The set was buzzed and crackled, but tests made could not find the cause of the interference.

On the same occasion, the salesman decided to investigate the inside of the set for the trouble. He found that the set had been used for a long time. The set had been made a nesting place by a colony of bees!

Burton, addressing the gathering of Orangemen. The order was founded to maintain religious peace and freedom of the conscience, and 150 years to cherish and protect these principles.

GRADS STAGE
BIG REUNION
OVER WEEKEND

All-Star Sports Program
Features Gathering—

Edmonton stellar grads, world famous girls' basketball champions, held a reunion at the Williams farm over the week-end when Grads past and present, together with members of their families, were out in force.

"Never before saw so many Grads ex-Grads and potential Grads together in one bunch," said Frank Drayton who was one of the few guests outside the Grads and their families.

FORMER STARS
All star sports program brought out such well known Grads names as Bennie Smith, Dunc, Coulson, Innes, Scott, Fry, Stone and Berry, and many of the old stars showed that they had not lost the speed that marked them when they were valued players with the world champions.

Percy Page, who acted as master-of-ceremonies, sports premier and starter, manager, and a few other things, with Mrs. Page acting as chronicler for the party, had his hands full. At one stage of the afternoon he received an application for membership from Miss Bertha, three-week-old baby, who almost made the show from the fact that she was the youngest of the Grads. The application was at first accepted, but after Mr. Page had gone more fully into the matter, was respectfully rejected.

YOUNG MAN
"And not an account of the young man's academic standing," said Mr. Page. "It's just because he is that—a young man."

The Grads again showed their superiority over the much vaunted stars by taking the long end of a basketball game which was wholly controlled all the way following which the party wound up with a swim.

ATTEMPT MADE
BLAST CAPITOL
THEATRE SAFE

Unsuccessful attempt was made Monday to blow the Capitol Theatre sky over the week-end, and although the door was blasted in expert manner, the crackmen failed to get at the contents.

Police and the theatre management were mystified as to how entrance was gained, as there was no sign of a break-in. The blasting was discovered at 11 p.m. Sunday by the night janitor when he came on duty.

The blasting was done in the same manner as that at the Lonsdale and the Fort Saskatchewan police office, using nitroglycerine and blankets. It is apparently done by the same gang.

A rear door was found opened by removing a cross bar on the inside, and the means of escape for the gang.

Police who are investigating believe it is possible the crackmen attended the picture show Saturday night, then entered the theatre and blew the building until everyone else had left.

On the window of a Jasper Avenue Chinese merchant's store there is a sign that will be an irrefutable witness to a painful lesson for his home-land.

Suddenly he spotted the name of the paint being used. It was "Japan Black."

"Out of my store," excitedly yelled the sign painter. "You must get rid of this paint. It is too bad for you to put Japan Black on your window. Get out."

An inquest was called by Coroner Dr. C. J. Clouston at Yorkton and adjourned to Monday afternoon.

Mr. St. John was unmarried and lived in several cities in Saskatchewan during his stay in Edmonton. He was a sportsman and had been an outstanding hockey player.

Looking Them Over

By Jack Kelly
Southern Fears
Squire McShain
Peaceful Champ

TENNIS minded Albertans are keeping critical and rather fearful eyes fixed on the annual city tourney that started here Saturday for this year. Edmonton is expected to produce the big guns that will do most of the blasting in the provincial tourney at Lethbridge, July 17 to 22.

Two former Calgaryans, Bill Stark and Bob Pentland who are Edmontonians, are keeping southern eye circles lively. Stark has held the provincial singles title for four years. If my memory is correct, and that is enough to brand any player as a highly dangerous character to be loose around any championship meet.

However the stakes is also apprehensive of Rogers Wast. Edmonton open singles champ at the moment—a tall, powerful, who takes a line to play when he is right and rolling along. Rogers Wast is a scolding dangerous character from these parts that the south stands in some awe of.

Then comes Bob Pentland of E.A.C. hockey fame. Bob recently teamed with Stark to beat King and Johnson, Calgary's 1938 champs, for the Cavanaugh trophy. The football club has particular respect for the double ability of Stark and Pentland.

Last word from Calgary was that King and Johnson are not likely to enter the provincial meet. The southern city experts most of its title threats will be in the ladies' division where Mrs. M. Kustner, Mrs. Hush Ryan and Miss G. Peterson look like top-flight competition for the rest of the province.

Here Mrs. Lethbridge singles champion, will carry the bulk of the hopes of the entire city. He has a record of 10 wins and 1 loss. Down from Coleman is expected Bill Ballhorn, Alberta's first ranking player, an opponent that no one can lose lightly. Over at Carleton there is a young Frances Paves who is expected to be a contender in the doubles.

The many junior singles was included in this haul. Miss A. Lemaie, a junior champion, was also seen giving much impression. Douglas and Paves were the only doubles seen in the provincial meet.

Edmonton's top tennis players can be followed by players in the provincial tourney. The tourney will be played at Lethbridge, July 17 to 22. The tourney will be played at Lethbridge, July 17 to 22. The tourney will be played at Lethbridge, July 17 to 22.

He's a Broth of a Lad

Edmonton's "Broth of a Lad" has been a popular character in the city for some time. He is a young man who is known for his good looks and his ability to play tennis. He is a popular character in the city for some time.

Now personally I wouldn't care to commit myself about such transmutations as well as changing names. For years a great stream of vegetables have poured in and out of the Bulletin's editorial office. Long ago I decided that such titles, their line of descent and the scores of stalwart pretenses to them were things that my simple mind would never be able to figure out. Even the ancestral claimant that a mere date or card is necessary to be as good as a name is a thing that I can't figure out. So I have decided to leave it to the people who are in the present accepted wrestling champion in any division and who.

However the character McShain doesn't need a title to raise the stakes in his tennis career. He is a young man who is known for his good looks and his ability to play tennis. He is a popular character in the city for some time.

Just Another Ferdinand? Now I am not sure that I am not a bit of a Ferdinand myself. I am a young man who is known for his good looks and his ability to play tennis. He is a popular character in the city for some time.

Upsets Mark Play in Record Tourney

HENRY MARTELL served sub-par notice on the golfers of Edmonton over the week-end that any shotmaker who has intentions of preventing him from lifting the city amateur championship for the fifth straight year had better come with his shooting irons out and smoking. Henry started his title defence on Saturday by carding a 60, three under par, that was good enough to make him low qualifier as the tourney got underway over the Municipal course.

Ted West was the next lowest qualifier with a mark of 71 as 120 competitors shot medal rounds in the big city tourney Edmonton has yet enjoyed. Scores of 78 and better were needed to gain entry to the championship flight of 32 players. Six flights were necessary to handle those making the title squad.

Start of match play on Sunday brought upsets quickly. Fred Procter, before the Marston of Municipal, by a two-hole margin in the second round of the championship flight. Jack Saksy eliminated Ted West by a one-up count in the second round.

THE BIG UPSET. The big upset came when Bob Procter fell in the second round of the title battle. Procter was given a terrific battle in the first round by Bryan Jennings, Highlands junior, and the match went to the 24th hole, before Procter edged a victory. In the next round Procter ran into Norman Gordon. The knocked out of contention by a two and one count.

Play at the end of Sunday had created the drama of the championship flight. Henry Martell and Norman Jennings are bracketed at the top for the next round. Below them come K. Colvin and Bob Poderski. The pair will play the lower half of the draw, that is the Marston and Norm Gordon. The lower bracket pits Jack Saksy against his Mayfair club mate, Ted West.

The foreclosures around the clubhouse freely predicted that the smoking golf would be seen before the semi-final brackets are filled and certainly some red-hot round before the title is decided.

FINALS SUNDAY. The third round in various flights must be completed by Friday. The semi-finals will be played on Saturday and the final on Sunday.
